AIDS AWARENESS RALLEY

AIDS Awareness Rally at P Wadhvani College of Pharmacy is organized on 4th of December 2019. The purpose behind organizing this really is to make a society aware of AIDS and evil effects on families and society. This rally is also meant for making the future pharmacist better aware of this disease and their responsibility of spreading knowledge about AIDS in society.

01 December, is National AIDS Awareness Day, a date set aside to recognize the positive impact that pharmacists have in AIDS awareness. Pharmacist role is crucial for increasing awareness about the importance of the profession in prevention of the disease. As health care becomes more collaborative and pharmacists are integrated into care teams, the true significance of the profession has come to light. On 01st December, 2019, P. Wadhvani College of Pharmacy, Yavatmal launched the campaign to spread the crucial role of the pharmacist in both the patient journey and in the real world. During this ongoing campaign, pharmacists from all walks of life have shared numerous photos on social media showing interests ranging from ralley which is organised to spread awareness in society comprised of nearly all pharmacists. The Pharmacists campaign, much like AIDS Awareness ralley, seeks to raise awareness in the health care space and among the general public to provide a better understanding of who pharmacists are and just how important they are for overall patient health during the disease spread. Traditionally, individuals may think of a pharmacist as a health care professional who wears a white coat and dispenses pills, but we know that the role of the pharmacist expands beyond dispensing drugs and that filling prescriptions is just the beginning of their mission. The goal of the AIDS awareness rally is to break certain assumptions and show another side of knowledge about the disease. Pharmacists can use the platform to define their true role to help differentiate the countless faces of the patients who need the counselling along with the guidance to be better.

On National AIDS Awareness rally, we encourage students, co-workers, family members, and friends to share photos of students doing an activity of AIDS awareness. Adorable Principal Prof Dr A V Chandewar inaugurated the rally from gate of P. Wadhwani College of Pharmacy, Yavatmal and after the round in the city Students performed slogans “Communities make the difference” at various vital centres of the city concluded at the same place.
